

MISCELLANY.

Ten highwaymen cannot pull a shirt off a naked man's back.

A Danbury little darkey refused to go to church "Kase he didn't want to look there like a huckleberry in a pan of milk."

"Is the candidate for sheriff here?" asked a stranger as he looked into an Illinois bar-room. "Yes, why?" asked eighteen men, as they rose.

"What will not a woman do for the man she loves?" asks a writer. She will not eat onions while going to a party, no matter how much she loves him.

A Chicago man recently murmured in his sleep, "Nellie, dear Nellie!" and now he spends half the night in trying to convince his wife that Nellie is the heroine of a novel he has been reading.

An Indiana woman dreamed that she saw her husband kissing the hired girl, and she got so mad over it that she discharged the girl before breakfast next morning.

Formula of divorce used by a negro Justice in Desha county, Arkansas: "As I jined you, so I bust you 'sunder. So go, you niggers; you go."

Short dresses are coming into fashion again, and young ladies are experiencing the old, old difficulty of getting a No. 6 foot into a No. 4 shoe.

Nantucket has had but two days' rain and one shower since the last of June, but the people were converted to lager-beer several years ago, and don't care much if it never rains.

A Jersey City lawyer was making a high-flown speech the other day, telling about angels' tears, weeping willows and tombstones, when his Honor said: "Confine your remarks to the dog fight."

"It is said that a donkey cannot bray unless his tail is horizontally extended."—Indianapolis News. And yet an Indianapolis editor will sit straight up in his chair and write a whole editorial.—St. Louis Journal.

THE SONG OF THE VICTIM OF A RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

My case was brought before A bench of legal scholars, Who awarded me my claim Of $16,000.

In a hospital at Montpellier, France is a patient who has just swallowed a thermometer left on his table, while suffering from temporary delirium. They have a great deal of trouble with him now. When he drinks hot coffee that thermometer flies up against the roof of his mouth hard enough to lift his hat off, and when he eats ice cream it gets down in his boots and worries his corns.

Poor Max Adelert! Hear what he has to say about a hotel clerk: "I can shake hands with a Governor, sit beside an alderman, and smoke with a State Senator, and never feel my littleness; but when I come to stand in the presence of a modern hotel clerk I feel that awe and inferiority which tourists feel as they stand in the Yosemite Valley, and look up at the mountain tops a thousand feet above."

A Mississippi boatman with immense feet stopping at a public house on the levee, asked the porter for a boot jack to pull off his boots. The colored gentleman, after examining the stranger's feet, broke out as follows:—"No jack here big nuff for dem feet. Jackass couldn't pull 'em off, massa, widout fracturing de leg. Yuse better go back about tree miles to de forks in de road an' pull 'em off dar."

Two Pennsylvania farmers quarreled, for twenty years, over the ownership of a lane between their farms, which had been abandoned as a highway. The son of one and the daughter of the other managed to get acquainted, fell in love mutually, and ran away to get married; whereupon the old fellows dropped their quarrel, stopped their lawsuits, gave the new-married pair the land in dispute, and built and furnished a house upon it for them.

In Kansas, Justice, if she is blind, goes at the rate of a mile a minute whenever she is after a horse-thief. Vincent Morgan, grand equine larcenist, as aforesaid, was arrested about sunrise, had his preliminary examination before breakfast, was bound over, was taken to Hiawatha, and by 2 o'clock P. M. he had been indicted, arraigned, tried, found guilty, and sentenced to the Penitentiary for two years. Such velocity of proceeding must have made Mr. Morgan's head swim; but he may thank his stellar influences that he is safe within stone walls, for, short as the proceedings were, a Vigilance Committee might have made them a good deal shorter.

Cooley's New Dog.

Max Adler says: Cooley has got a new dog, and I am sorry to say that he is exceedingly vicious; so vicious, indeed that very few of the neighbors have courage enough to enter Cooley's yard. Judge Pitman however, had to go in there the other day for the purpose of collecting a bill, and he told me he wasn't a bit afraid because he possessed the power of holding a wild animal with his eye. When he looked straight into the eyes of a dog the brute quailed before his glance and slunk away. He said it proved the superiority of a human being with a soul and a resolute will to the mere brute creation. So he opened the gate and went in. Cooley's dog heard him coming and immediately flew to meet him. The Judge fixed his eye on the animal for the purpose of holding it, but the dog didn't notice the circumstances. But still the Judge looked and still the dog came on. Then it seemed to occur to the Judge that perhaps his kind of an eye might not hold that kind of a dog and he suddenly moved toward the apple tree with a dog close behind him. He became panic stricken and made a furious effort to clamber up the trunk. He had just reached the first limb when the dog arrived and made a snap at him. The dog's teeth caught in the lower part of the Judge's trowser-leg, and as it is a bull dog he held on, while the Judge lay across the limb on his stomach out of breath, frightened and uncertain what to do. If he dropped, the dog would eat him if he climbed further up, he would have to take the dog with him. He had just made up his mind to stay where he was while his strength lasted when he thought he heard the limb cracking, and then he yelled for help. Then Cooley came out, and after making the Judge promise to take 20 per cent discount off the bill he pried open the dog's mouth with the kitchen poker, and dragged him into the stable. The Judge came down hot, breathless, and mad; and he has said to me since, privately that the next time he wants to hold a dog with his eye he will impale him on a hay-fork first. This is a safe way, anyhow.
